The General Result. By Telegraph to THE SENTINES.

New York, Nov. 5.—The following is asummary of the results of the elections in the east and south on Tuesday, made ly on the righteousuess of his motives, up from the last returns received from the several states:

New York elects Hill (democrat) for governor by about 11,000 plusality. The rett in refusing to betray her confederstate legislature is republican on joint ate. ballot by a majority of 36 in a total vote

In New Jersey the republicans have 5 majority in the senate and 4 in the assembly, making a majority of 9 on joint

In Connecticut the republicans have 12 majority an joint ballot, a republican loss of 71.

In Virginia Lee, democrat, is elected governor by about 25,000 majority as far as reported. The legislature is heavily democratic, that party having 62 out of 100 members of the house, and 29 out of 40 in the senate. The counties to be heard from will probably increase their majorities.

In Massachusetts Robinson (Rep.) is re-elected governor by a plurality of mitted those of other countries, the about 22,000. The World claims that the democrats gain fifteen members in the house and seven in the senate.

In Maryland the democratic state ticket is elected by about 22,000. The legislature will stand about as follows: Senate—republicans, 6; democrats, 20. House—republicans, 16; democrats, 101 democratic majority on joint ballot, 99. The successor of United States Senator Gorman will be a democrat.

The Tamma y democrats won in New York city, electing the sheriff, clerk and president of the board of aldermen and two coroners.

UMAHA, Neb. November 4.—The republican ticket is elected by over 20,000 majority. The candidates chosen are, Amasa Cobb, supreme judge: C. H. Grev and Lenett Burnham, regents of the state University.

Trenton, November 4.-A spectal dispatch to the New York Tribune gives the complexion of the next state legislature in New Jersey as follows: Senate, Republicans thirteen, Democrats eight; house, Republicans, thirty-two, Democrats twenty-seven: Independent Democrat, one. This gives a Republican majority of nine on joint ballot and insures the election of a Republican United States senator. Boston, November 4.—Robinson's plurality in the state over Prince, Democrat, is estimated at 22,207. Washington, Va., November 4. The Post has a special from 111 of the 113 counties in Virginia, giving majorities for Governor Lee. The majority, according to the figures, is 15,-902. The two counties not heard from, gave Blaine 906 majority. NOW CELEBRATED

Cases. By Telegraph to Tan Sanzuca.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—The circuit room was crowded for nearly an hour this morning waiting the appearance of the judges to render a decision the election cases. When the court appeared there was the closest attention to every word uttered. Judge Cox read the decision. He said it was a petition for a mandamus followed by Amizee McGill for himself and three others, candidates for election as state senators, avering that the canvassing board was proceeding to do its work illegally and asking the court to compel it to count the returns according to law and to issue certificates to them in stead of democratic candidates.

To this the defendants had filed a motion to strike out the material averments of the petition as irrelevant and insufficient to support the demand in the petition. In the argument this motion had been treated as a demurrer, and the defense claimed that a mandamus was not the proper remedy, because the canvassing board's duty was not ministerial, but quasi-judicial and because the proper remedy was by contest before the senate.

The court held otherwise—that this court could direct the canvassing board by mandamus and that the mandamus was the proper remedy. The distinction make by Ju ige Buchwalter, followed by this court, by declaring that this is not a contest for office but for the certificate which cannot be given by the senate and has a value distinct from the office itself. The court considered in detail, the averments which were stricken out of record, except where the allegations were as to irregularities in counting the . Bird Songs.

It is worthy of remark that birds have their time to sing, as well as to labor for a living. Their morning and evening songs are never omitted, however silent they may be at noontime. They spend many hours of the day in the diligent search of food, but its earliest and latest moments are given to song. A few species sing on the wing, like the skylark soaring to heaven's gate; others sing as they hop upon the ground, but most birds choose some lofty perch from which to warble forth their notes. The vireos and warblers sing as they work among the foliage of the trees, but the thrushes set apart an hour for song. The whitethroated sparrow chooses the evening hour for his loud and cheery lay. When we first heard it, many and many a year ago, from the top of Pleasant Mountain, how wild and solitary it seemed. Its notes came clear and distinct above those of most other birds. They are among the last to be heard at night, and seem to come from far away. peaks. It is easy to interpret its songs, for none can mistake the warning words: "Sow wheat, Peverly, Peverly, to whom he is giving advice, but the Peverly who profited by it. The wood thrush, too, sings at evening. He is perhaps our greatest singer, so charming are his notes. Eaton Appointed to the Civil Service Commission.

By Telegraph to THE SENTINES.

Washington, Nov. 5.—The president this afternoon appointed Mr. Dorman B. Eaton a member of the civil service commission.

Mr. Eaton succeeds Judge Thoman, who resigned. Mr. Eaton resigned some time ago, but the president re-appointed him. The civil service commission is composed of Messrs. Edgerton, Trenholm and Eaton. They have not yet qualified, however.

Mr. Eaton has consented to serve on the commission for a few weeks in order to assist the newly appointed commissioners in familiarizing themselves with their duties and also close up certain unfinished matters in which he is greatly interested. The new appointee in place of Mr. Eaton will be a republican, in full sympathy with civil service reform, Washington, November 4. - The president to day appointed Alfred P. Edgerton, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, civil service commissioner, in the place of Dorman B. Eaton, resigned, and William I. Trenholm, of Charleston South Carolina, in the place of John M. Gregory, resigned.

Mr. Trenholm is a commission merchant, and was warmly endorsed for the appointment by leading friends of the civil service reform movement north and south He is a son of the late secretary Trenholm of the treasury of the Southern Confederacy, and has been brought into prominence lately, by his addresses before numerous banker's conventions, on the silver question, and his writings on the same subject, which have attracted wide attention. Mr. Trenholm has always been a Democrat.

GET READY

CIVIL-SERVICE REFORM.

Civil-service reform comes hard, because the evils against which it is aimed have been long intrenched in the body politic and can only be removed by heroic treatment. Because an abuse is of long standing, however, is no reason why it should be tolerated, and the assertion of such a principle is without rhyme or reason. Diseases which afflict the human body are not looked upon as blessings because long endured, nor should those which afflict the state be considered so. Everything which is inconsistent with the most perfect working of the body and government must be gotten rid of. Such, at least, is the belief of Mr. W. D. Murphy, of No. 310 Yandes street, Indianapolis, who has recently been cured of rheumatism of twenty-five years' standing by that great remedy, Athlophoros. Age gave the disease no charm in his eyes, and he swept it away at the first opportunity. He himself tells all about the matter in this way:

"My rheumatism dates way back about twenty-five years. I first contracted it in the war, in which I served four years and six months. After returning home from service the disease seemed to assume a periodical form. I would have at least two severe attacks every year, but even between these attacks I would suffer all the time. These attacks prevented me from getting about, and many times I could not walk or get ou. of bed. They would catch me in the legs so that after standing awhile I would feel suddenly weak and in danger of

"Was it during one of these attacks that you used Athlophoros?" Mr. Murphy was

"Yes; that's the time and that's when it did its work for me. I saw it advertised and sent to B. Brehm, the druggist on Columbia avenue, for a bottle. It was in the afternoon I took the first dose and then at night I took another. I slept soundly that night. The next morning when I awoke I had no pain. I took a few doses more, only using about two-thirds of a bottle altogether and my rheumatism was all gone. That is over a year ago and I have only felt a little twinge of the pain since, but nothing to speak of.'

"Do you know of any others who have used Athlophoros?"

Yes. I have recommended it to many different persons. My confidence was so great in the medicine that in several instances I have bought bottles of it and given them to people, saying at the time that if it did not do its work they need not pay for it; but there is not a single case in which I did not have my money within a week. There is Mrs. Wright, an aged lady of seventy, living a few miles from here, who, after suffering from rheumatic pains for fifteen years, was entirely rid of all pain by three or four bottles of Athlophoros. I recommended another lady, who was supposed to be suffering from dyspepsia, but who in reality had neuralgia of the stomach, to try Athlophoros, and it soon cured her. My neighbor, who had a severe attack of neuralgia, his face being swollen out of all shape, was cured by a few doses. My confidence in Athlophoros is very strong, and I believe that if any one suffering with rheumatism or neuralgia will take it right it will cure ninety-nine cases out of a hundred. It is worth $100 a bottle to every sufferer from rheumatism."

If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send it express paid, on receipt of regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed. Athlophoros Co., 112 Wall Street, New York.

HON. A. P. EDGERTON.

As THE SENTINEL predicted yesterday Hon. A. P. Edgerton, of this city, and Hon. W. I. Trenholm, of South Caro lina, were chosen civil service commis sioners. The selection of Mr. Edgerton is hailed with delight by his legion of friends who know him but to love him and admire his noble character and lofty attainments. The country could not produce a more acceptable man for the place. He is practical, honest, fair minded and entirely free from affiliations that might impede a creditable discharge of his duties. The Sentinel is pleased to again see Mr. Edgerton in public life and believes it is the dawn of a new era in the career of as great a man as the west has developed. This sketch of Mr. Edgerton's life if from the Allen County Atlas and will interest the public:

Hon. Alfred P. Edgerton was born a Plattsburg, Clinton county, New York, January 11, 1813, being the eldest son of Bela Edgerton and Phebe Ketchum, who were married at Plattsburg, March 24, 1811. Bela, his father, was born in New London county, Conn., September 28, 1787, and was a tineal descendant of Richard Edgerton, one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Conn. He graduated at Middlebury college, was a lawyer by profession, a member of the assembly of New York from Clinton county for several years, and died at Fort Wayne, Ind., September 10, 1874. Alfred's mother was born at Livingston Manor, Duchess county New York, March 27, 1790; died at Hicksville Ohio, August 24, 1844.

Mr. Edgerton was a graduate of the Academy at Plattsburg and made his first public appearance as an editor of a newspaper in his native town in 1833, and in the fall of that year he removed to New York City and engaged in commercial pursuits. In the spring of 1837 he came to Ohio and took the charge and management of the extensive landed interests of the American Land company and those owned by Messrs. Hicks, and established a law office at Hicksville. At this office over 100,000 acres of land were sold. In 1852 Mr. Edgerton was himself the owner of nearly 40,000 acres of land in northwestern Ohio. These lands were subsequently mostly sold by him to actual settlers toward whom he extended a most liberal policy in regard to their indebtedness to him. During his residence at Hicksville he was actively engaged in developing and improving that part of Ohio in which he resided, both of a private and public character.

In 1845 he was elected to the state senate of Ohio. He immediately took a leading position in that body, then comprising some of the ablest men in that state of both political parties. Mr. Edgerton being a new member, but little was known or expected of him by his associates. But when Alfred Kelly, then the leader of the whig party in the senate, had introduced their financial policy and kindred issues. Mr. Edgerton opposed their claims and in clear and logical speeches electrified the senate by the accurate knowledge he gave in detail, regarding the finances the state. Mr. Kelly soon found in Mr. Edgerton, a foeman worthy of his steel, while the democrats were delighted with his success in 'debate, and from that time forward recognized him as their leader. During the next year he was strongly recommended by many of the leading democratic papers for governor of the state. One of them thus speaks of him: "During the last two sessions of the general assembly Mr. Edgerton has proven himself to be an able and talented statesman; and while he has faithfully adhered to sound dema ocratic principles, his unimpeached private character, high sense of honor and sterling integrity as a gentleman, have commanded the respect of his most bitter political opponents. Consistent, firm and unvielding in his principles, active and ardent in his undertakings, he possesses all of the elements of a successful leader." In 1850, after the close of his brilliant career in the state senate, he was elected to the house of representatives of the congress of the United States, and was re-elected in 1852, He was second on the committee of claims for the first term and chairman on the committee during his second term. This position is one of arduous labor and it always commands a large influence in the business of legislation. As such chairman his services were of great value to the whole country, but he did not neglect his position on the floor of congress. In debate Mr. Edgerton was forcible, pungent, logical and refined, his speeches showing great research and being filled with well-digested information, practical good sense and sound, discriminating judgment. In 1853 he was selected by the board of fund commissions as the financial agent of the state of Ohio, to reside in New York. This was the inauguration by the state of a new policy, since adhered to, of having its funds kept for transfer by its own agents and within its own control. In 1856 he was chairman of the committee on the organization of the national democratic convention at Cincinnati. In 1859 he was one of the committee appointed by the legislature of Ohio to investigate the frands upon the state treasury, and made an elaborate report, which was accepted by the public as a full exposition of those frauds and their authors. In 1857 he removed to Fort Wayne, but retained his citizenship in Ohio until 1862. In 1859, in connection with Hugh McCulloch (since twice secretary of the treasury of the United States) and the late Pliny Hoagland, of this city, he became the lessee of the Indiana canal from the Ohio state line to Terre Haute, assuming the position of general manager and as such controlled the business of the partnership until 1868. In January of that year he was nominated as the democratic candidate for lieutenant gevernor of the state in Indiana with Thomas A. Hendricks for governor, but was defeated by less than 1,000 votes.

In 1872 he received the nomination of the O'Connor democrats as their candidate for governor of Indiana, which he declined in a very able and dignified letter to the chairman of the convention. He concludes his letter by saying, "I therfore shall vote the ticket with Mr. Hendricks at the head, and I earnestly hope that all democrats in the state will do likewise." He has been called by his political friends to fill many minor positions. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention in 1848, from Ohio, also a delegate from Indiana to the Chicago convention in 1864, and has been a very active and efficient member of the school board of the city of Fort Wayne for many years. Mr. Edgerton has always filled the many distinguished positions of honor and trust, ents, with whom he was at all times popular, and with that eminent ability that placed him in the foremost ranks of our most distinguished statesmen. In private life, he has been one of our best and most efficient business men, an accomplished and genial gentleman, and during his residence in this city has always been a prominent, favorite and respected citizen.

THERE is a good deal of nonsense about this rivalry between cities, remarks the Chicago Tribune; the talk of newspapers on the subject is largely good-natured chaff, and the rivalry, so far as it may exist, is generally a benefit to each place, tending as it does to promote a public spirit. There are conditions, though, where one city may grow at the expense of another, and when progress in one place means a loss of growth if not actual decadence to the other. Such is the situation as regards Kansas City and St. Louis, and it is curious because of its oddity. St. Louis can attain any great further growth only from the West and Southwest, and between her and trade in the direction indicated Kansas City has risen like a stone wall. Having reached the point of competing on equal terms with St. Louis, as is now the case, the future for Kansas City is easy; the only wonder is that her growth came so swiftly from a village to its present dimensions. St. Louis is now hemmed in, cut off absolutely from a great future, and to Kansas City belong the possibilities. As an illustration of how the Missouri River city is growing may be mentioned the simple fact that for the nine months of 1885 the permits issued for building, including public ones, aggregate in value $5,021,413, as against $2,029,853 for the same period in 1884, a gain of $2,991,560, or 148 per cent. This gain is something remarkable, and there are indications that the phenomenal growth will continue. Why this is so, why Kansas City instead of St. Louis is to be the great town of the Southwest, is hard to explain. The laws regulating the growth of cities should be by this time clearly defined; but they are not. Much depends, no doubt, upon climatic conditions and upon the accidents of immigration and the resultant character of the people.

It is possible to keep the cobra harmless under music for a considerable time. It is related by a naturalist who closely studied the habits of animals in India, that he one day spent an hour painting a cobra, which was kept dancing the whole time upon a table. He frequently handled it, and examined its spots, and the spectacles on the head. He was surprised afterward to find that the fangs had been left in.

AMERICAN school-books are not desired in Argentine. A New York firm sent text-books into the country, according to contract, but neither the histories nor the geographies were accepted. It was found that they represented the condition of the country as it was twenty-five years ago and alluded to it as the "Argentine Confederation." The use of the term was a mortal insult to the people, since it was decided by civil war that Argentine is not a confederation of States, but a nation.

THE biggest land sale ever made on earth, was the transfer of Texas lands amounting to 3,000,000 acres, for the sum of $25,000,000. The expression fits the American hat exactly. It is a big thing, and appeals to the bigger sense of pride that resides in the American mind. It is sure, however, to be a much bigger thing, and in a way not very flattering to our pride, before we have done with this merciless squandering of the public domain to foreign capitalsts in blocks equalling an European principality, and for purposes that cannot redound to American interests. The evils of large proprietorship will be added to landlord absenteeism, and the nine points of possession will make the load as irksome and difficult as the old man of the sea was to Sinbad.

THE late Earl of Dysart was one of the most eccentric of noblemen. Though he had a splendid park near Grantham, and very great, not to say unbounded wealth, he chose to live in two rooms on the second floor of a house on Norfolk street, Strand, where he allowed nobody to see his face. Indeed, it is said that when he wanted a new pair of boots or shoes, the son of St. Crispin who supplied his lordship had to measure his feet on the outside of his sitting-room door, the noble legs to which they belonged being thrust through the door panels. The entire house of Tollemache, of which Lord Dysart was the head, is and has long been notorious for its eccentricities. The house which his lordship inhabited is now turned into a hotel, which is called "The Dysart."

A New York florist is forcing pink clovers for a December wedding.

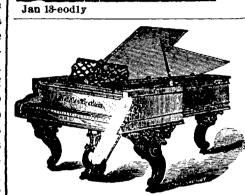

I have been afflicted with catarrh for 20 years. It became chronic, and there was a constant dropping of mucous matter from the roof of my mouth. It extended to my throat, causing hoarseness and great difficulty in speaking, indeed for years I was not able to speak more than thirty minutes, and often this with great difficulty. I also, to a great extent, lost the sense of hearing in the left ear, and of taste. By the use of Ely's Cream Balm all dropping of mucous has ceased and my voice and hearing has greatly improved.—Jas. W. Davidson, attorney at law, Monmouth, Ill.

Is nature's own remedy, made from roots gathered from the forests of Georgia. The method by which it is made was obtained by a half breed from the Creek Indians who inhabhalf breed from the Creek Indians who inhabited a certain portion of Georgia, which was communicated to one of the early settles, and thus the formula has been handed down to the present day. The above cut represents the method of manufacture twenty years ago, by Mr. C. T. Swift, one of the present proprietors. The demand has been gradually increasing until a $100,000 laboratory is now necessary to supply the trade. A foreign demand has been created, and enlarged facilities will be necessary to meet it. The Daily Senting To Regulate

THURSDAY, NOV. 5, 1885.

Faith-Healing a Fact.

There can be no question that faith-healing is a fact. The brain is not simply the organ of the mind; it is also the chief center, or series of centers, of the nervous system by which the whole body is energized, and its component parts, with their several functions, are governed and regulated. There is no miracle in healing by faith; whereas, it would be a miracle if, the organism being constituted as it is, and the laws of life such as they are, faithhealing under favorable conditions did not occur. The fallacy of those who proclaim faith-healing as a religious function lies in the fact that they misunderstand and misinterpret their own formula. It is the faith that heals, not the hypothecated source, or object, of faith outside the subject of faith. The whole process is self-contained. Nothing is done for the believer; his act of believing is the motor force of his cure. We all remember the old trick of making a man ill by persistently telling him he is ill until he believes it. The contrary of this is making a man well by inducing him to believe himself to be so. The number of the "miracles" performed will be the precise number of persons who are capable of being thrown into a state of mind and body in which "faith" dominates the organic states. Pathologists will limit the area of this process to the province of functional disease; but we are not sure that they are justified by scientific facts in making this limitation. It must not be forgotten that function goes before organism in development, and that there are large classes of cases in which the disabilities of a diseased organ for a fair performance of its functions are mainly due to a want of power or irregularity in action. And it is a fact in pathology that if the function of an organ be maintained or restored, much of the destructive metamorphosis due to proliferation of connective tissue, fatty deposits, or even certain forms of atrophic change in which the nuclei of cell-life are rather denuded than destroyed, may be arrested and to some extent repaired. The vis medicatrix nature is a very potent factor in the amelioration of disease, if only it be allowed fair play. An exercise of "faith" as a rule suspends the operation of adverse influences, and appeals strongly through the conscioueness to the inner and underlying faculty of vital force. There are many intractable cases in every practice which might be "cured by faith." It is well that these poor persons should be benefited by some means, it matters little what: and if they can be "healed by faith" we ought to be very glad, and thankful, too, for the mistaken zeal of those who, being weak-minded themselves, make dupes of other weak-minded folks to their advantage. This is a blind leading the blind in which they do not fall into the ditch, but, by a happy combination of circumstances, actually escape danger and gain something to boot.—London Lance THE FIRST KEEN TWINGE.

As the season advances, the pains and ches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hoods Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumstismwe doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

Marriages and Ages.

Recenly I sat next the Baroness and Mr. Burdett-Coutts at a place of entertainment. Her ladyship was superbly appareled, and, on appearing among the audience, was presented by a young girl, dressed in black, with a large white bouquet, all lilies and tuberoses, trimmed with white lace. Mr. Burdett-Coutts seems to be endowed by nature with the most enviable of all gifts, a mirthful disposition. He has a laughing mouth and a splendid set of white teeth. He is a jolly, handsome man, and I don't wonder his wife likes him. There has been a great deal of comment made about this match, but, for my part, I see no more reason why a lady of 65 may not marry a man of 33, if both are willing, than that a man of 80, like Sir Jules Benedict, should marry a girl in her twenties, as I believe Lady Benedict still is.—Olive Logan's Letter.

"Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise." says an old proverb. And it may be added that on the slightest symptoms of rheumatism, a man ought at once to go to bed and be well rubbed with St. Jacobs Oil, He will be able to rise early after that.

Merchants say the dullness of trade for the past two or three weeks, has been in consequence of this being the season for paying taxes, and that it takes all the money people can raise to settle with the city, county and state, instead of spending it otherwise. They expect business to pick up from this time on.

"Our section hands on the Grand Rapids and Indiana railroad were called out last Sunday to do some work on the road. The Presbyterian president of that road don't always know the workings of the lesser lights or he would change the order. He don't believe in running Sunday trains," says a Rome City correspondent.

Attorney-general Hord has made to rhe secretary of state a report of the fines and forfeitures, reported to him by the clerks of the circuit courts of the state, which show a total of $11,900 fines and $6,400 forfeitures. He says that the clerks of fifty-seven counties have not reported to him, although required to do so by law, and he has no power to compel them to make such reports.

Mr. John C. Peters, one of the most successful men in Fort Wayne, now leans lightly on a handsone gold-headed cane. The walking stick is the gift of his workmen, who surprised Mr. Peters at his mansion home and were royally entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Peters. The token is tender coming from empleyes to employer, and certainly is highly creditable to Mr. Peters who is kind and agreeable to all people.

The Fort Wayne Jenney Electric Light company have just been advised that they were awarded the contract of lighting the city of Davenport, using 145 low lights and nine towers. All the Electric Light companies were there competing for the contract.

Among the many items of expense that are to be lopped off when peace is actually accomplished among the trunk lines is that of the extravagant advertising by means of photographs, illustrated books, etc., that has been indulged in to so large an extent for the past two years. The modest folder in two colors will be the limit in that direction.

Consult the advertising columns of THE SENTINEL before making purchases. The successful business man without exception believes in advertising and constantly communicates with his customers through the columns of a live newspaper. Those desiring real bargains will usually be able to obtain them from the merchant who invests liberally in advertising and The Sentinel presents

The committee appointed to arrange for the monuments to Indiana soldiers on the battle-field of Gettysburg, having completed their work, yesterday drew about $2,500 from the state treasury to pay for the work. The total appropriation was $3,000, but of this about $500 was spent for traveling expenses on the first trip, although each member of the committee paid his own subsequent expenses of about $100 each.

Here is a statement about a comic opera that shows what its profits must be: Mr. D'Oyly Carte lately informed an interviewer that the gross receipts of last year in connection with the Gilbert-Sullivan operas had been $785,000, and that the total sum since 1877 would amount to about $5,000,000. The salaries of the artists, of which 350 are employed, amount alone to about $5,500 per week, without the wages for employes of all kinds and the expenses of scenery, costumes, traveling, local theatres and orchestras, as well as the general expenses.

The winter is always recognized as the season for church socials, and we are now on the verge of a protracted series of them. To make them entertaining and profitable, the ingenuity of the ladies of the societies is sometimes severely strained. They find that the old standard socials, which have been in vogue for lo, these many years, are not attractive enough, and so they are constantly on the alert for some new craze. One which has not reached here yet is called the "chocolataire," wherein every thing served for menu savors of chocolate in some shape or form. It has been tried recently in several places with great success. Here is a clue for the bright cherubs of the city, and in the meantime we trust the poor patent oyster will receive a deserved rest.

The news of Hon. A. P. Edgerton's

The Appointment of Hon, A. P Edgerton to the Civil Service Commission is Popular election as a member of the civil service commission was hailed with delight here. Democrats and republicans alike rejoiced over the deserved promotion of their fellow citizen and enconiums of Mr. Edgerton's exemplary life were on every lip. The history of Mr. Edgerton's appointment cannot but interest. When the first vacancy on the board occurred Chief Justice Waite, of the United States court, who knew Mr. Edgerton president and urged Mr. Edgerton for the place. "I know him," said Judge Waite, "to be clean, honest and noble, and a man of extraordinary ability." Senator Payne then wrote to President Cleveland on behalf of Mr. Edgerton and Judge Patton, of Hicksville, made a trip through Indiana to secure the endorsement of prominent Hoosiers for his friend, Mr. Edgerton. Hon. W. G. Colerick solicited the approval of the people of Fort Wayne and the president's action crowns the good work. Mr. Edgerton gets a salary of $3,500 a year and has all his expenses paid. It is said he will not assume active charge of the office for a few weeks, as he must come here and arrange his affairs first.

Fort Wayne to the Front.

"A number of republicans are looking to Robert S. Taylor, of Fort Wayne, as the Mahomet to lead them in the next gubernatorial race," says the Indianapolis News.

"Rumors of a coalition is bruited between the republicans of Fort Wayne, Richmond, Greencastle and Evansville, looking to a state ticket next year 'symmetrical' in all its parts. It is not known, however, that the scheme includes James T. Layman, of Marion, for treasurer," says the Indianapolis News.

A few days ago the same paper noted the probability of Mr. Charles A. Munson's candidacy for state auditor. Since then Mr. Munson has enjoyed a great boom all over the state and THE SENTI-NEL is pleased with the movement of his friends to make him a candidate.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.-The following is asummary of the results of the elections in the east and south on Tuesday, made up from the last returns received from the several states:

New York elects Hill (democrat) for governor by about 11,000 plusality. The state legislature is republican on joint ballet by a majority of 36 in a total vote of 150.

In New Jersey the republicans have 5 majority in the senste and 4 in the assembly, making a majority of 9 on joint of 71.

In Virginia Lee, democrat, is elected governor by about 25,000 majority as far as reported. The legislature is heavily democratic, that party having 62 out of 100 members of the house, and 29 out of 100 members of the house, and 29 out of 40 in the senate. The counties to be heard from will probably increase their majorities.

In Massachusetts Robinson (Rep.) is re-elected governor by a plurality of about 22,(80), The World claims that the democrats gain fifteen members in the house and seven in the senate.

In Maryland the democratic state ticket is elected by about 22,000. The legislature will stand about as follows: Senate—republicans, 6; democrats, 20. House—republicans, 16; democrats, 101; democratic majority on joint hallot, 99. The succe-sor of United States Senator Gorman will be a democrat.

The Tamma y democrats won in New York city, electing the sheriff, cierk and president of the board of aldermen and In Virginia Lee, democrat, is elected legislature in New Jersey as follows: Senate, Republicans thirteen, Demo-Benate, Republicans thirteen, Remo-crats eight; house, Republicans, thirty-two, Democrats twenty-seven; Independent Democrat, one. This gives a Republican majority of nine-on-joint ballot and insures the election of a Republican United States senator. Buston, November 4.—Robinson's plurality in the state over Prince, Democrat, is estimated at 22,207. WASHINGTON, Va., November 4.— The Post has a special from 111 of the 113 counties in Virginia, giving ma-jorities for Governor Lew. The ma-jority, according to the figures, is 15,-902. The two counties not heard from, gave Blaine 906 majority.

UMAHA, Neb. November 4.—The republican ticket is elected by over 20,000 majority. The candidates chosen are, Amasa Cobb, supreme judge; C. H. Grey and Lenett Burnham, regents of the state University. TEENTON, November 4.—A spectal dispatch to the New York Tribune gives the complexion of the next state beginster on New Jarsey as follows:

Bird Songe.

It is worthy of remark that birds have their time to sing, as well as to labor for a living. Their morning and evening songs are never omitted, however silent they may be at montime. They spend many hours of the day in the diligent search of food, but its earliest and latest moments are given a song A few masses since on the the unique assets on tools, we carliest and latest moments are given to song. A few species sing on the wing, like the skylark soaring to heaven's gate; others sing as they hop upon the ground, but most bards chooses some lofty perch from which to warbles some lofty perch from which to warbles sing as they work among the foliage of the trees, but the thrushes set spart an hour for song. The white-throated sparrow chooses the evening hour for his loud and cheery lay. When we first heard it, many and many a year ago, from the top of Pleasant Mountain, how wild and solitary it seemed. Its notes came clear and distinct above those of most other birds. They are among the last to be heard at night, and seem to come from far away. night, and seem to come from far away. HON, A, P, EDGERTON.

A THE SENTINES predicted yesterds Hon, A. P. Edgerton, of this city, and Hon. W. 1. Treuholm, of South Carolina, were chosen civil service commissioners. The selection of Mr. Edgerton is hailed with delight by his legion of friends who know him but to love him and admire his noble character and lofty attainments. The country could not produce a more acceptable man for the He is practical, honest, fair minded and entirely free from affiliations that might impede a creditable discharge of his duties. The Sentines is pleased to again see Mr. Edgerton in public life and believes it is the dawn of a new era in the career of as great a man as the rest has developed. This sketch of Mr. Edgerton's life if from the Allen County Atlas and will interest the public:

Hon, Alfred P. Edgerton was born Plattsburg, Clinton county, New York, January 11, 1813, being the eldest son of Bela Edgerton and Phelio Ketchum. who were married at Plattsburg, March 24, 1811. Bela, his father, was born in New London county, Conn., September 28, 1787, and was a fined descendant of Richard Edgerton, one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Conn. He graduated at Middlebury college, was a lawyer by profession, a member of the assembly of New York from Clinton county for several years, and died at Fort Wayne, Ind., September 10, 1874. Alfred's mother was twen at Livingston Manor, Duchess county# New York, March 27, 1790; died at Hicksville, Ohio, August 24, 1844.

Mr. Edgerton was a graduate of the Academy at Plattsburg and made his first public appearance as an editor of a newspaper in his native town in 1823, and in the fall of that year be removed to New York City and engaged in commercial pursuits. In the spring of 1837 he came to Ohio and took the charge and management of the extensive lander juterests of the American Land company and those owned by Messrs. Hicks, and established a law office at Hickaville. At this office over 100,000 acres of land were sold. In 1852 Mr. Edgerton was himself the owner of nearly 40,000 acres of land in northwestern Ohio. These lands were subsequently mostly sold by him to actual actilers, toward, whom, he extended a most liberal policy in regard to their indebtedness to him. During his residence at Hicksville he was actirely engaged in developing and improving that part of Ohio in which he resided, both of a private and public character. In 1845 he was elected to the state senate of Ohio. He immediately took a leading position in that body, then comprising some of the ablest men in that state of both political parties, Edgerton being a new member, but little was known or expected of him by his associates. But when Alfred Kelly, then the leader of the whig party in the senate, had introduced their financial policy and kindred issues, Mr. Edgerton opposed their claims and in clear and log ical speeches electrified the senate by the accurate knowledge he gave in detail, regarding the finances of the state. Mr. Kelly soon found in of Mr. Edgerion, a foeman worthy of his steel, while the democrats were delighted with his success in debate, and from that time forward recognized him as their leader. During the next year he was strongly recommended by many of the leading democratic papers for governor of the state. One of them thus speaks of him: "During the last two sessions of the general assembly. Mr. Edgerton has proven himself to be an able and talented statesman; and while he has faithfully adhered to sound democratic principles, his unumpeached private character, high sense of honor and derling integrity as a gentleman, have commanded the respect of his most bit ter political opponents. Consistent, firm and unyielding in his principles, active and ardent in his undertakings, he posnames all of the elements of a successful hader." In 1850, after the close of his brilliant career in the state senate, he was elected to the house of representatives of the congress of the United i States, and was re-elected in 1852. He was second on the committee of claims for the first term and chairman on the committee during his second term. This position is one of arduous labor and it always commands a large influence in the business of legislation. As such chairman his services were of great value to the whole country, but he did not neglect his position on the floor of con-In delaste Mr. Edgerton was forcible, pangent, logical and refined, his speeches showing great research and being filled with well-digosted information, practical good sense and sound, discriminating judgment.

In 1853 he was selected by the board of fund commissions as the financial agent of the state of Ohio, to reside in New York. This was the inauguration by the state of a new policy, since adhered to, of having its funds kept for transfer by its own agents and within its wn control. In 1856 he was chairman of the committee on the organization of the national democratic convention at Cinciunati. In 1859 he was one of the committee appointed by the legislature of Objecte investigate the frands apon the state treasury, and made an elaborate report, which was accepted by the public as a full exposition of those frauds and their authors. In 1857 he removed to Fort Wayne, but retained his citizen ship in Ohio until 1862. In 1859, in connection with Hugh McCulloch (since wice secretary of the treasury of the United States) and the late Pliny Hongland, of this city, he became the less of the Indiana canal from the Ohio state line to Terre Haute, assuming the position of general manager and as such controlled the business of the partnership until 1808. In January of that year he was nominated as the democratic candidate for lieutenant gevernor of the state in Indiana with Thomas A. Hendricks for governor, but was defeated by less than 1,000 votes.

In 1872 he received the nomination of the O'Connor democrats as their caudidate for governor of Indiana, which he declined in a very able and dignified letter to the chairman of the convention He concludes his letter by saying, "I therfore shall vote the ticket with Mr. Hendricks at the head, and I carnestly hope that all democrats in the state will do likewise." He has been called by his political friends to fill many minor positions. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention in 1848, from Obio, also a idelegate from Indiana to the Chicago convention in 1864, and has been a very active and efficient member of the school board of the city of Fort Wayne for many years. Mr. Edgerton has always filled the many distinguished positions of honor and trust, in a manner satisfactory to his constitu-exts, with whom he was at all times popular, and with that eminent ability that placed him in the foremost ranks of our most distinguished statesmen. In private life, he has been one of our best and most efficient business men, an accomplished and genial gentleman, and during his residence in this city has al-ways been a prominent, favorite and re-spected entizen, about this rivalry between cities, remarks the Chicago Tribune; the talk of newspapers on the subject is largely good-natured chaff, and the rivalry, so far as it may exist, is generally a benefit to each place, tending as it does to conditions, though, where one city may grow at the expense of another, and when progress in one place means a loss of growth if not actual decadence to the other. Such is the situation as regards Kansas City and St. Louis, and it is curious because of its oddity. St. Louis can attain any great further growth only from the West and Southrest, and between her and trade in the direction indicated Kansas City has risen like a stone wall. Having reached the point of competing on equal terms with St. Louis, as is now the case, the future for Kansas City is easy; the only wonder is that her growth came so swiftly from a village to its present dimensions. St. Louis is now beamed in, e.4 off absolutely from a great future, and to Kanssa City belong the possibilities. As an illustration of how the Missouri River city is growing may be mentioned the fact that for the nine months of 1885 the permits issued for building, including public ones, aggregate in value 55,021,413, as against $2,020,853 for the same period in 1884, a gain of $2,991,560, or 148 per cent. This gain is something remarkable, and there are indications that the ple nomenal growth will continue. Why this is so, why Kansas City instead of St. Louis is to e the great town of the Southwest, is hard to explain. The laws regulating the growth of cities should be by this ame clearly defined; but they are not. Much depends, no doubt, upon chinatio conditions and upon the accidents of minigration and the resultant character of the people.

AMERICAN school-books are not desired in Argentine. A New York tirm sent text-books into the country, achistories nor the geographies were accepted. THE biggest land sale ever made or earth, was the transfer of Texas I ands amounting to 3,000,000 acres, for the sum of $25,000,000. The expression fits the American hat exactly. It is a hig thing, and appeals to the bigger sense of pride that resides in the American mind. It is sure, however, to be a much bigger thing, and in a way not very flattering to our pride, before we have done with this merciless squandering of the public domain to foreign capitalsts in blocks equalling an European principality, and for purposes that cannot redound to American interests. The evils of large proprietorship will be added to landlord absenteeism, and the nine points of possession will make the load as irksome and difficult as the old man of the sea was to Sinbad.

THE late Harl of Dysart was one of eccentric of noblemer Though he had a splendid park near Grantham, and very great, not to say unbounded wealth, he chose to live in two rooms on the second floor of a house on Norfolk street, Strand, when he allowed polocky to see his face. Indeed, it is said that when he wanted a new pair of boots or shoes, the son of St. Crispin who supplied his lordship had to measure his feet on the outside of his sitting-room door, the noble legto which they belonged being thrus through the door panels. The entire house of Tollemache, of which Lord Dysart was the head, is and has long been notorious for its eccentricities The house which his lordship inhabited is now turned into a hotel, which is called "The Dynart,"

The Daily Senting To Regulate

THURBDAY, NOV. 5, 1885.

Paith-Healing a Fact,

Patth-Healing a Fact.

There can be no question that faith-healing is a fact. The brain is not aimply the organ of the mind; it is also the chief center, or series of centera, of the nervous system by which the whole body is energized, and its component parts, with their several functions, are governed and regulated. There is no miracle in healing by faith; whereas, it would be a miracle if, the organism being constituted as it is, and the laws of life such as they are, faith-healing under favorable conditions did not occur. The fallacy of those who proclaim faith-healing as a religious function lies in the fact that they misunderstand and misinterpret their own understand and missaterpret their own

It is the faith that heals, not the hypothecated source, or object, of faith outside the subject of faith. The whole process is self-contained. Nothing is done for the believer; his act of believing is the motor force of his cure. We all remember the old trick of making a man ill by persistently telling him he is ill until he believes it. The contrary of this is making a man well by inducing him to believe himself to be so. The number of the "miracles" performed will be the precise number of persons who are capable of being thrown into a state of much and body in which "faith" dominates the organic states. Pathologists will limit the area of this process to the province of functional disease; but we are not sure that they are justified by scientific facts in making this limitation. It must not be forgotten that function goes before organic development and that these It is the faith that heals, not the hy tional disease; but we are not sure that they are justified by scientifier facts in making this limitation. It must not be forgotten that function goes before organism in development, and that there are large classes of cases in which the disabilities of a diseased organ for a fair performance of its functions are mainly due to a want of power or irregularity in action. And it is a fact in pathology that if the function of an organ be maintained or restored, much of the destructive metamorphosis due to proliferation of connective tissue, fatty deposits, or even certain forms of atrophic change in which the nuclei of cell-life are rather denulled than destroyed, may be arrested and to some extent repaired. The vis medicatrix nature is a very potent factor in the amelioration of disease, if only it be allowed fair play. An exercise of "faith" as a rule snapends the operation of adverse influences and appeals strongly through the consciounces to the inner and underlying faculty of vital force. There are many intractable cases in every practice which might be "cured by faith." It is well that these poor persons should be benefied by some means, it matters little what; and if they can be "healed by faith" we ought to be very glad, and thankful too, for the mistaken real of those who, being weak-minded themselves, make dupes of other weak-minded folks to their advantage. This is a blind leading the blind in which they do not fall into the ditch, but, by a happy combination of circumstances, actually escape danger and gain something to book—London Lancet.

But the thousands benefited by Hook's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in unging others who suffer from rheuma-tism to take it before the first keen twings.

Marriages and Ages.

Recenty I sat next the Baroness and Mr. Burdett-Coutts at a place of entertainment. Her ladyship was superbly appareled, and, on appearing among the audience, was presented by a woung girl, dressed in black, with a large white bouquet, all lilies and tubercess, trimmed with white lace. Mr. Burdett-Coutts seems to be endowed by nature with the most enviable of all gifts, a mirthful disposition. He has a langhing mouth and a splendid set of white teeth. He is a jolly, handsome man, and I don't wonder his wife likes him. There has been a great deal of man, and I don't wonder his wife likes him. There has been a great deal of comment made about this match, but, for my part, I see no more reason why a lady of 65 may not marry a man of 33, if both are willing, than that a man of 40, like Sir Julea Benedict, should marry a girl in her twantice, as I believe Lady Benedict still is—Olive Logan's Letter.

"Early to bed, early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise," sayr an And it may be added that on the slightest symptoms of rheumatian, a man ought at once to go to bed and be well rubbed with St. Jacoba Oil, He will be able to rise early after that.
